

Cookie Policy

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that is stored on your browser or the hard drive of your computer. Cookies contain information that is transferred to your computer's hard drive.

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. If you continue without changing your settings, we'll assume that you are happy to receive all cookies on our website. However, if you would like to, you can change your cookie settings at any time. Further information on how to do so is provided below.

More detail on how businesses use cookies is available here.

The cookies we use and why we use them

We use cookies to analyse the flow of information; customise content and advertising; measure the effectiveness of our website; and promote trust and safety. This includes Google Analytics tracking, interest based advertising such as remarketing (these cookies allow Google and others to show our adverts when you visit other websites in networks such as the Google Display Network after you have visited our website, Google Ads conversion tracking and advertising on social media sites. Generally, cookies fall under the following categories:

- Strictly necessary cookies. We use cookies that are strictly necessary for the operation of our website, for example, to enable you to move around the site or to provide certain basic features. They include, for example, cookies that enable you to log into secure areas of our website.
- Functionality cookies. We use cookies to enhance the functionality of our website by storing your preferences, for example. These are used to recognise you when you return to our website. This enables us to personalise our content for you.
- Analytical/performance cookies. We use analytical/performance cookies to help us to improve the performance of our website to provide you with a better user experience. They allow us to recognise and count the number of visitors and to see how visitors move around our website when they are using it. This helps us to improve the way our website works, for example, by ensuring that users are finding what they are looking for easily.
- Targeting cookies. We also use targeting cookies. These cookies record your visit to our website, the pages you have visited and the links you have followed. We will use this information to make third party advertising more relevant to your interests. They are also used to limit the number of times users see an advert as well as help measure the effectiveness of an advertising campaign.

A cookie is either a:

- session cookie which is erased when the user closes their web browser; or
- persistent cookie which remains on the user's computer/device for a pre-defined period of time unless manually deleted.
